Great Confidence In M. Poincare

Strength of Cabinet Will Be Known When Financial Program Is Outlined—Anxious to Meet Mellon.

Paris, July 24.—The Poincare cabinet is striving to evolve a financial program, which it can take before the Chamber of Deputies next week with reasonable assurances of success.

Until the financial program is outlined none can say how strong the Poincare cabinet will prove, but it is general opinion in political circles that the cabinet, under the leadership of cautious Poincare, will bring forth a program which will at least win initial support from the Chamber.

The problem of the American debt settlement remains more or less of an unsettled question. M. Poincare has strongly opposed the Mellon-Sherer agreement, but as Premier he may not be able to carry his opposition to as great lengths as he did when out of the cabinet. The prospects are, however, that the debt problems will be left largely in the hands of M. Briand, but he will be advised to take no precipitate action. It seems likely that the debt settlement will be delayed in being placed before the Chamber.

Anxious to Meet Mellon.

M. Poincare is said to be very anxious to meet with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, but the American cabinet officer appears to be not over-anxious to meet M. Poincare in any formal conference.

Premier Poincare today issued a denial of reports that he planned to resign from Parliament.

The strength of the franc, which has improved since the advent of M. Poincare to office, appears to rest entirely in public confidence in M. Poincare. The state of the treasury is no better now than it was when the Chamber passed M. De Monzie's bill providing for the use of the remainder of the Morgan loan to bolster up the almost depleted exchequer.

Only Socialists Lack Faith.

There is apparent lack of faith in M. Poincare only in the Socialist party, the only party of importance not represented in the Poincare cabinet.

M. Leon Blum, leader of the Socialists, in an interview with the International News Service, declared that public confidence can not restore the franc, except temporarily, and he stated that the Socialists will not support the time when it will be necessary to resort to their policy—deflation and a capital levy.

All Parisian newspapers today conceded that a government containing six former Premiers representing all shades of French political opinion was certain to be an excellent governing body provided its members could continue in harmony with each other.

The newspaper La Volonte, organ of former Finance Minister Caillaux, sums up the cabinet as "not a Ministry but a Tower of Babel."

Caillaux and Millerand were the only two former Premiers omitted from the cabinet. Even Edouard Herriot, radical Socialist leader, whose political opinions are diametrically opposed to those of Poincare, has been included.

THREE SERIOUS ACTS

ACCIDENTS AT TOLEDO

Toledo, Ohio, July 24.—Traveling at a rate of fifty miles an hour, an automobile containing Chief of Police C. E. Harvey of Haverhill, Penna., and two other Haverhill residents, plunged down a railroad embankment here early today and turned over several times, probably fatally injuring all three occupants.

Chief Harvey received a fractured skull; Bert Kelley's back was broken and James Hamer received a fractured skull.

It was the third serious accident here today. Earl E. Rousch, 32, son of a prominent Columbus, Ohio, minister, being killed when he drove his car into a freight train and Mrs. Mary Miller, 73, mother of Joe Miller, Toledo night promoter, receiving a fractured skull in another crash.

AMERICAN PETITION FOR

INVOICE IN SEIZURE COURT.

Paris, July 24.—Petition for divorce was filed in the Seine Court today by Mrs. Julian Meredith, the former Dorothy Thompson Melton. The couple, prominent in Buffalo, N. Y. society, were married in Paris on February 4 of the present year. Mrs. Meredith charged desertion.

Mrs. John Liegett also filed petition for divorce charging that her husband had returned to receive her. The Liegetts were married in St. Clair, Mich., in 1927.

A divorce was granted Mrs. Jean Furman, on the ground of desertion. The Furmans were married at Reading Beach, N. J., in 1917.

Requiem services were granted Mr. and Mrs. Agnes LaFarge, who married in Denver, Col.

DEATH OF TWO WOMEN

PLATE WITH MOUNTAIN.

Madrid, July 24.—Captain Girones of the Spanish air force was mortally injured today when the plane in which he was flying with two companions crashed into the Puerto Rico Mountains. They were flying in a fog.

A fatal collision and the mechanic, American, both of whom had been in the recent Madrid to Madrid race, escaped without injury.

New Bridge Is Big Undertaking

Mid-Hudson Bridge, Connecting Ulster and Dutchess Counties, Involves Interesting Technical Operations—Work Will Start in Fall.

Walter G. Cheever, general superintendent for the Blackwell-Rollin Corporation of Boston, which has the contract to erect the Mid-Hudson bridge, says that the construction will involve some extremely interesting technical operations. It will be one of the largest engineering undertakings in the history of this section of the country.

The piers will be of concrete up to about 15 feet below the water line. From there to the top they will be of granite masonry. One pier will be anchored 650 feet from the east shore and another 790 feet from the west shore, leaving a distance of 1,600 feet between them. The base of these piers will be 130 feet below water level. Surveys have shown the river about 65 feet deep where the caissons are to be sunk. In addition the caissons are to be driven through about 65 feet more of sand and clay which overlies the rock formation on which the piers will be fastened.

To construct the piers it will take 75,000 yards of concrete, 90,000 barrels of cement, 112,000 tons of crushed stone, 60,000 tons of sand, 1,000 tons of reinforcing steel and 1,000 tons of structural steel with the same amount of granite.

The work will start in the fall when the company will bring to Poughkeepsie five derricks, barges, two complete floating concrete mixing plants, an 85-horse-power gasoline driven work-boat and a fleet of six or more scows to transport materials.

Soldiers' Camp Leveled by Storm

Violent Storm Levels New Jersey National Guard Camp—Great Damage Reported To Property at Sea Girt.

Sea Girt, N. J., July 24.—A violent storm, borne on a wind of cyclonic velocity, struck municipalities in this vicinity today, doing great damage to property.

The summer camp of the New Jersey National Guard was leveled by the storm, which was preceded by a blanket of dark clouds that entirely obliterated the sun and threw the vicinity into an inky blackness. All the tents on the army reservation were blown, but no serious injuries were at first reported.

Many trees here and in Manasquan, N. J., were uprooted by the storm, and it was reported that several houses were moved from their foundations by the force of the wind. Varying estimates put the velocity of the wind between 50 and 100 miles an hour.

Wire communications were damaged by the storm and an adequate check-up of damage was difficult. The storm lasted for little more than a half an hour, when a sudden shower of heavy rain dispersed the black clouds.

Texas Deciding Fate of "Ma"

Austin, Tex., July 24.—Texas today stepped out for a new political thrill. The ranger, the planter, the city man and women everywhere flocked to the polls to settle the most intense and thrilling political campaign the state has known.

Whether or not Governor Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson, the lone star state's first woman governor, was to remain in office for a second term of two years, or step down and out next week, was to be decided.

Gov. Ferguson offered to resign if Moody led her by one vote, provided Moody would resign if she did not lead him by 25,000. Moody accepted the challenge.

Besides the race for governor, Texans also will cast votes for their choice for the state and county officers and congressmen.

All of the congressional incumbents are running for re-election and many of them are unopposed.

Family of Four Burned to Death

Monksgrove, Mich., July 24.—Ralph F. Christie, his wife, 37, and their two children were burned to death today when their cottage at Bear Lake was destroyed by fire.

Mrs. Christie's body was found by the fire, while Christie's body lay in the center of the room, indicating that he had made an attempt to rescue the two children, Marion, seven, and Charles, two, who were on the other side of the house.

The fire is believed to have started from a stove in the kitchen.

Survived by Son Edward R. Christie, George Cornell of Wapahong Falls burned his hands severely during the fire when he picked up an iron bar that had fallen on the roof of a building during the fire.

The fire was caused by a gas leak from a stove in the kitchen.

Mellon Will Not Discuss Business

Secretary Mellon Regards His Visit Solely in Light of Vacation—British Press Conjectures Concerning Morgan.

Dinard, France, July 24.—Secretary Mellon has not the slightest intention of participating in a financial conference while in Europe, members of Mellon's party said today.

Mellon is set in his resolve not to mix business with pleasure and he regards his visit to Europe solely in the light of a vacation.

"Our plans are as yet indefinite," a member of the Mellon party informed the International News Service. "We will probably tour northern France and pass through Paris within two or three weeks en route to Rome."

Vacationing, Says Morgan.

London, July 24.—While J. P. Morgan is enjoying a quiet vacation in the English countryside, the British Press conjectures concerning his presence here.

Morgan himself declares persistently that he is here only on a vacation, but the British Press is as persistent in declaring that "it is believed" that Morgan will engage in conferences here which will have a vital effect upon the French financial situation.

The newspapers declare that Morgan and Secretary Mellon held conversations on board the Majestic.

Careful inquiry in financial circles indicates that there is no basis at present for any conjectures that Morgan's visit here is part of a general plan for American aid to France.

SIX BARNS BURNED ON

ONE FARM IN 38 YEARS

During the past thirty-eight years six barns have been burned on what is now the Anderson farm at Accord where one was struck by lightning and burned to the ground on Thursday evening.

The first fire, caused by lightning, was on August 4, 1888, when the farm was occupied by Lewis Clearwater. Two barns were burned in this fire. On August 28, 1916, lightning again struck the barn and again the second barn caught fire with the result that both were burned to the ground. The farm was owned by Norman Clearwater at that time. On January 6, 1922, when the farm was occupied by W. H. Rose an exploding lantern set fire to the barn, resulting in a total loss of the building.

TOURIST DIRECTOR DIES.

U. S. TOURISTS STRANDED

Milan, Italy, July 24.—A group of American tourists, mostly from New York, are stranded here today owing to the sudden death of John Webster, 64, director of the Frank and Clarke Tourist Agencies, Webster, who was conducting the group in a tour of Italy, died upon his arrival here.

Immediately after Webster's death the police seized his luggage including $10,000 in cash pending the termination of legal formalities. Most of this money belonged to the tourists who are now unable to proceed until the authorities release it, which may not take place until another representative of the tourist agencies arrives.

BRASS AT HIGHLAND.

Andrew Kaba and Chester Zampko of North Perry street, Poughkeepsie, 17 years old, were arrested in Poughkeepsie Friday by Deputy Sheriff Charles Goreth of Highland on a warrant charging them with having stolen brass fittings from the Ross Chemical Company building in Highland. When arrested before Justice of the Peace S. G. Carpenter at Highland they raised examination and were held to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of grand larceny. Bail in the sum of $500 each was not forthcoming and they were brought to the county jail Friday afternoon.

PEGGY SAYS SHE WILL

NEVER MARRY AGAIN

New York, July 24.—Vowing that she never will marry again, Peggy Hopkins Joyce sailed for Europe early today aboard the liner Stefania.

Stanford Comstock, wealthy New York and Florida realtor, who, it had been reported, would be Peggy's next husband, did not see her off. His absence from the dock was explained when it was learned that he had not known of Peggy's intention of sailing.

"I'll never, never marry again," the actress confided to a friend.

MINIATURE TORNADO
ON WEST HURLEY ROAD

Thursday afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock, a twisting wind storm that came out of the west caromed across part of the farm of the Lockwood brothers on the Kingston-West Hurley road. Four apple trees loaded with fruit were blown down, a very large maple tree was uprooted and blown over, narrowly missing a new moving machine, while a number of window panes in the house blown in. Nearly opposite in the John Nicholson homestead, a window sash was blown in and pieces of glass were blown in and pieces of glass were blown in and pieces of glass were blown in.

The storm lasted but a few minutes but was a fast and furious one. No other damage has been reported from the neighborhood.

STOLE HIS FISH BASKET
SO HE CAUGHT NO FISH

Alfred Van Keuren of Garden street, who is an ardent fisherman, decided to try his luck Friday evening in the Egeus creek at Higginsville. When he reached the bank of the stream he found he was without tobacco, and leaving his fish basket, containing all of his books and lines, on the bank he went to the nearest store after a supply. When he returned it was to find that some one had stolen his basket. As a result he caught no fish. He says that the party who helped himself to the basket is known and that further developments may be expected.

Despite the fact that the attendance at the Colonial baseball games at night all that might be desired, rumors that have been circulating around town today that the Colonials will be disbanded after Sunday's game are unwarranted, according to a statement made to Manager Lou Brown this afternoon. Robert Says He Fired the Shot

Chicago, July 24.—In spite of a full "confession" made by Robert Scott, now under life sentence, to the murder of Joseph Maurer, drug clerk for which his brother Russell is condemned to be hanged, prominent lawyers today expressed the opinion that the statement of Robert that he fired the fatal shot will not avail to halt the execution of either sentence.

The legal view is that the courts have no further jurisdiction in the case and that the only possible action would be the prosecution of Robert for perjury on the ground of his admission that he swore falsely on the stand to save his own neck.

The confession was made to a reporter and a jail official and signed by Robert in their presence. In it he goes to some length to describe how it was possible for him to have fired a shot into the victim's back while Maurer had him down on the floor and was lying on top of him.

It was this situation that led the jurists to believe that Russell must have been the actual killer and led to the imposition of the severer sentence upon him.

Robert says in his confession: "I raised the gun over the back of Maurer (he was lying on top of me in the struggle) and I fired. I was so dazed that after I got up I fired a few more shots. I don't know where they went to."

When shown a copy of Robert's confession, Russell said: "Thank God, he has finally told the truth. I'm glad for the sake of my wife and children."

CIVIL WAR RELIC
FIGURES IN DEATH

New York, July 24.—A Civil War relic—a gun that had not been fired in sixty years—was today the cause of Martin Munson, 45, being held on a charge of homicide. The gun was discharged, accidentally according to Munson, late yesterday, killing Mrs. Russell Sokel.

Munson, a former boarder in Mrs. Sokel's home, told police he had taken the gun to her home to give it to her brother, Michael Kutner. The two men were examining the gun as Mrs. Sokel entered the room. It was discharged just as she crossed the threshold.

The letters "C. S. Harpers Ferry" were found on the gun stock by police who examined it.

Anti-American Feeling Growing

American Embassy May File Formal Protest With French Government—Sight-seers Stormed Again.

Paris, July 24.—Diplomatic protests against French demonstrations of an Anti-American nature appeared possible today.

For the fourth successive night huge crowds gathered on the boulevards last night and stormed sight-seeing cars containing tourists, mostly Americans, and refused to allow the cars to leave.

The American embassy has taken no action as yet, but it is understood that a number of complaints have been received by the embassy and it may be necessary to file a formal protest with the French government.

The police intervened last night and made a few arrests, but did not succeed in preventing several sight-seeing cars containing tourists, mostly Americans, and refused to allow the cars to leave.

An Anti-American feeling is apparently growing and it is being fanned by a number of newspapers, which are publishing bitter articles denouncing the American tourists.

Previously these demonstrations have been attributed to hoodlums, but last night's demonstrations were carried out by well-dressed Frenchmen, and there were indications that there might be some organization and that the demonstrations were not spontaneous.

Fortunately the temper of the tourists thus far has been good-natured, probably because they do not understand most of the jeers addressed to them, but unless some action is taken by the police there may occur a serious clash.

Auto Bumps Tree, One Man Injured

Cheaper to Give Car Away Than Have It Repaired—Injured Man Has Cut on Elbow Dressed at City Hospital.

Frank Morrissey of Brooklyn on Friday was the owner of the Ford sedan; this morning the same car, somewhat banged up from contact with a tree, is the property of Nightwatchman Henry Finn of No. 171 Abeel street, while James J. Hickman of Richmond Hill, one of the occupants of the car, had a cut on his left elbow that required two stitches to close at the Kingston City Hospital.

From Mr. Morrissey's story to the police shortly after 3 o'clock this morning he was driving his Ford sedan up the Wurts street hill when the brake band broke and the car started to run down hill and collided with a tree. The car was wrecked so badly, said Mr. Morrissey, that rather than pay for having it repaired he had given it away.

Nightwatchman Henry Finn of the Forest garage, who resides at 171 Abeel street, was the man who was presented with the wrecked car, and he has hopes of being able to repair it.

Hickman, who received a cut on the elbow, left the hospital after having it sewed up. Another man who was in the car escaped uninjured, as did Morrissey.

Woman Hurt in Auto Accident

Mrs. Annabelle Michel of Montgomery street, Brooklyn, sustained a broken left arm when the Buick sedan she was riding in went off the road and down an embankment on the Ashtoken boulevard at Boreville early Friday evening. There were four others in the car, who escaped with minor injuries.

The party were driving to Big Indian at the time the automobile left the road, crashed through the fence and went down the bank. The injured woman was taken to Phoenix and later to the Kingston City Hospital where Dr. George F. Chandler reduced the fracture. Her husband and the others in the car had their bruises dressed by Dr. Gross at Phoenix.

Mrs. Michel left the hospital for Big Indian, after being attended by Dr. Chandler.

Bus Resumes Old Route Sunday

On Sunday the Broadway-Kingston bus will resume its old route which it was forced to abandon several weeks ago due to the laying of a water main through the center of Clinton avenue. After it leaves Broadway the bus will now go through Henry street to Clinton avenue, to Malden Lane, to Wall street to Main street to Clinton avenue to Henry street to Broadway, and from there on will follow its accustomed route.

KINGSTON N. Y. JULY 24, 1926

The Social Service Committee of the Methodist Episcopal Church South reports that "prohibition is a success except in the wet areas." This is commendably judicial, although the exact proportion of success obviously depends on the exact extent of the "wet areas."

A year ago Mr. Coolidge was quoted as saying that fishing is not a man's diversion, but if Adirondack streams have yielded him 20 trout in a day, as reported, he must have found that the angling, wading and tramping was rather suggestive of a man's job.

LET THEM WORK

The railroad unions and the railroad managers should alike bear in mind, that in abolishing the Railroad Labor Board and creating another tribunal for the handling of wage demands, neither Congress nor the public intended to let down the bars protecting the public from rate increases caused by wage increases. Railroad labor, as a class and as a whole, is liberally paid. At the present time, labor on the railroads of the United States is the highest paid class of labor in the world, though working the shortest hours. Farm labor, for example, works from 10 to 12 hours, and the farmer himself and his sons, and often the women folk, longer than that; whereas railroad employees work scarcely half as long, and receive from three to four times higher pay.

During hearings on demands for wage increases, it has been repeatedly disclosed that some classes of railroad employees arbitrarily restrict the miles they run or the hours they work, so as to create the false impression that their wages are low and thereby justify an increase. The facts are, that men in train service are the best paid of all, and yet the most active and persistent in demanding wage increases.

If they feel that they must have more money, let them work the hours of other men, and they will get it without a wage increase. Until they do so, it is wrong for them to demand, and brazen to expect the public to hazard a rate increase in order that they may obtain a wage increase. Their hourly rate of pay is already high. The trouble is they work such few hours, not because they cannot work more, but because they themselves have agreed and resolved not to. The public is in no mood to sympathize with pleas for wage increases, under such conditions.

THE BUSY FIXERS.

It is interesting to read the production figures in the field of industry and agriculture in the United States. With a population of only some 115,000,000 people out of an estimated world population of 1,748,000,000 individuals, our total output is all the more astounding. The application of electric and steam power as an aid to man power is responsible for such accomplishments. American workmen have more power at their command than the workmen of any other nation. This accounts for their high production and high wages. There have been ups and downs in American agriculture and manufacturing, but taken as a whole, it is safe to say that never before did the majority of individuals in the United States have as many of the necessities and luxuries of life as they do today.

As one travels over the country he is impressed by the fact that new farm buildings are being built, old ones are being repaired, the majority of farms have garages, automobiles, modern farm machinery, radios and a constantly increasing number are being equipped with electric light and power. Notably there are exceptions to this rule in some localities, but no one who takes a fair view of the country can help but say that it has been unusually prosperous. Never in the history of the world have so many homes been built by individual owners, as during the last two years in the United States.

But in the face of such unprecedented conditions we find a small but active group that favors restrictive legislation to America. It would build up government along more paternalistic lines, such as have restricted initiative, development and prosperity in many European countries. We can witness this agitation in all parts of our country.

All business and employment is interlocked, and neither the agricultural, manufacturer, capitalist or workman can profit at the expense of his neighbor. Putting the government into business simply piles up the tax bill which in the end is paid by the consumer. If we are wise we will take stock of our exceptionally fortunate and prosperous condition today, and not be led astray by political schemes which experiment at the expense of business and industry, which means at the expense of the workman and the consumer.

Pays Price for His Refusal

Conscientious Objector to Vaccination Contracts Smallpox Which Other Members of Family Who Were Vaccinated Escape.

According to Dr. Matthias Nicoll, Jr., state commissioner of health, 42 cases of smallpox occurred in New York state last month and further reports of additional cases have been received since then. This statement was made in a health talk broadcast by Dr. Nicoll from Station WGY Friday night.

"A young man recently became ill with smallpox," stated Dr. Nicoll. "All members of his family were immediately vaccinated with the exception of an elder brother who refused on the ground that he was in perfect health and didn't believe that vaccination prevented smallpox. He was told that while he had a perfect right to his personal opinions he had been in contact with a case of smallpox and must, therefore, in accordance with the provisions of the Sanitary Code, either be vaccinated or be quarantined for a period of at least twenty days. The elder brother had the courage of his convictions and chose the latter alternative, though only after vigorous protest."

"The controversy aroused a great deal of interest in the village and town where this 'conscientious objector' lived and he has many sympathizers, especially as time went on and the remainder apparently well. Before the twenty days were up, however, this non-believer in vaccination was taken ill and within a few days developed a typical case of smallpox with pustules covering the entire face, which became so greatly swollen that his eyes were nearly closed. It was one of the most severe cases seen in this state for some time. All of the other members of this family who were promptly vaccinated after exposure to the first case of smallpox escaped the disease."

"This is not an attractive story which we have told but true in every detail. Our object in telling it to you is to remind you that if you have never been successfully vaccinated or have not been re-vaccinated within the last few years you should protect yourself in this manner. Why is this necessary if you have not been in contact with a case of smallpox? Our reply is that you don't know whether you have or not. The people who have been reported to this department as having smallpox were leading normal lives up to the time of their illness. They were traveling on trains, in street cars or buses; they were eating in restaurants, shopping in stores, going to theatres or movies and otherwise mingling with other people. You may have been sitting next to a person who was coming down with smallpox. Have you had a successful vaccination recently, if not, why take a chance?"

Mrs. William Reichen of Port Jervis jumped from the second story of her home one morning recently. She has been ill for some time. First throwing her shoes and stockings out of the window, she jumped to the brick pavement below. The screams brought the neighbors to the door and several doctors and the police were called. When the woman was examined, it was found that she was only bruised.

Territorial Dispute With New Hampshire For What is Now Vermont. Decided July 24, 1767.

Vermont was admitted into the Union as a sovereign State March 4, 1791, but for more than half a century preceding this historic date there had been violent disputes regarding the territory embraced within the limits of the Green Mountain State.

France was the first claimant of Vermont by right of the discovery of Samuel de Champlain, July 4, 1609, but the sparsely settled districts were finally abandoned in 1759. But when the advancing operations of the French were met by the English, there followed Indian incursions, and those at Deerfield and other places resulted in the building of Fort Dummer, at Battledore, by Massachusetts in 1724, which became a permanent settlement.

On November 17, 1749, Governor Benning Wentworth addressed a letter to Governor George Clinton of New York, stating that the western boundary of New Hampshire extended to a line running from the western limits of Connecticut on Long Island Sound northerly to Lake Champlain. Governor Clinton replied July 3, 1750, that New York's eastern boundary was the Connecticut River.

This controversy was submitted to the English King whose answer, delayed until July 20, 1764, sustained New York, although for twenty years the line between the two colonies had been understood in America and England to be the one designated by Governor Wentworth.

In 1740 a long standing dispute between New Hampshire and Massachusetts had been adjudicated on the line of the present boundary of these states.

The treaty between France and England in 1763, following the French and Indian War, settled the northern boundary, so that the east and west borders were the points involved.

Meantime, during the war and up to the King's decree, in 1765, Governor Wentworth had issued grants of townships in what is now Vermont, each six miles square, up to the number of 180, the first called Bennington, bearing date January 3, 1749, and the last November 3, 1764. These were called "The New Hampshire Grants."

Immigration became active and by the time the decree of 1764 was published, placing the settlers of the "Grants" under the government of New York, a considerable territory had been taken up. Lieutenant Governor Colden declared the Wentworth grants "null and void," treating the settlers thereon as trespassers.

Finally, the Governor and Council of New York summoned all the claimants under the "Grants" to appear before them at Albany, with their deeds on a certain day. No attention was paid to the summons. Writs were issued for ejectment and surveyors were sent to resurvey the lands.

This movement brought on a crisis, and for several years the New Hampshire grants formed a theatre where all the elements of civil war excepting actual carnage were exercised. Foremost among those who took a firm stand in opposition to the New York authorities was Ethan Allen, the boldest of the bold.

Settlers of the "Grants" sent Samuel Robinson, Sr., of Bennington, to London to lay their case before the crown, and his mission was, in a measure, successful. He returned in 1767 with a royal order bearing date July 24, 1767, directing the government of New York to suspend all proceedings against the people of the "Grants," but very little attention was paid to the royal mandate.

In 1770 the settlers appointed a Committee of Safety and commissioned Ethan Allen colonel.

In 1772 Governor Tryon attempted conciliation, but failed. The Legislature of New York declared that any offender against its authority on the "Grants" should be deemed guilty of a felony and punished with death "without the benefit of clergy," such culprit to be tried in the county of Albany. A reward was offered for the apprehension of Allen and other leaders.

Even this harsh legislation did not alarm the settlers, and the struggle continued sharply until the beginning of the old war for independence. It was kept up in a mild form during that war, and afterward until the admission of Vermont into the Union, March 4, 1791, a period of forty years.

In the conflict with the New Yorkers some of the settlers were driven from the Champlain slope into the mountains, from which they issued for purposes of resistance, and were called "Green Mountain Boys." Allen and others played a conspicuous part in the war for independence.

Vacation Army Bigger Than Ever

Preliminary Survey of Motor Tourists Shows That 9,000,000 Automobiles, Carrying 25,000,000 People, Will Take to the Open Road for Their Vacation.

Washington, D. C., July 24.—A preliminary survey of this year's tide of motor tourist travel led the National Touring Board of the American Automobile Association to issue a statement today revising its early forecasts as to the number of people who will take to the open road for their summer vacations.

The gigantic army of motor vacationists will be much greater than was indicated by forecasts based on previous years, the national touring agency announces.

The A.A.A. Touring Board, whose survey is based on actual counts made by the touring bureaus of 815 motor clubs affiliated with the national touring body, now predicts that nine million automobiles, carrying approximately thirty-six million people will trek the gasoline trail on long-distance tours during this season.

Two-thirds Use Hotels. Of this total of nine million cars, declares the A.A.A., "three million will carry camping equipment and extend their outing to 33 days. Two-thirds of the caravan have not yielded to the canvas lure and will depend on hotels for accommodations. The latter class will spend an average of ten days on tour."

While it is impossible to determine exactly how much money the motor tourists will spend, the A.A.A. Touring Board asserts that three billion dollars is a conservative estimate, this being nearly half a billion dollars more than was spent during the 1925 touring season. The statement continued:

"Ten dollars per day, per car is a fair estimate for the canvas brigade. Three million of them out for 33 days will mean 99 million day tours at a cost of $10 a day or approximately one billion dollars. It is safe to assume that the other two-thirds on the road for only about one-third as long as the campers will have about three times the per diem expenses, so that two billion dollars for the six million cars is a conservative estimate. This would allow only $7.50 a day for each occupant of a car carrying four passengers, which is the average number carried while touring."

Three Billion Dollars' Benefit. "It is therefore safe to assume that the resorts, hotels, garages, filling stations and other agencies catering to motor travel will benefit to the extent of three billion dollars for this year's crop of motor vacationists."

"Every touring area in the country is reporting very substantial increases. These reports are fully borne out by the counts made by A.A.A. clubs and the demands for touring information made on them, all of this indicating that the cult of the open road is growing in favor and that the motorists are using their cars to better advantage and getting more out of their investment."

PLEADED GUILTY AFTER TRIAL HAD OPENED.

Antonio Grasso and Nicholas Morelli, the men who were charged along with James Scannapico with grand larceny, first degree, pleaded guilty Thursday morning when they were arraigned in Dutchess county court at Poughkeepsie. They will be sentenced Tuesday.

The three were being tried as the result of a kidnapping "bait" in the Harlem valley near Wassaic. Carlo Laude and Hector Lamotte made the charges against the men. Scannapico had been found guilty by a jury which reported late Tuesday night after a two-day trial.

Looking Ahead a Little, One Discovers Broadcloth—Nearer at Hand Is Challis and Even Other Old-Time Favorites.

The Weather Man and Dame Fashion, important but mythical beings, appear to be in league for once. Summer or no summer, women go right on wearing woollens, and fortunately enough are not seriously inconvenienced most of the time.

One wonders what ever took the place of kasha and balbriggan, and one rejoices in the advance information that broadcloth is to be an important fall fabric entry. Not that broadcloth is not encountered now and then for some of the attractive skeleton or unlined coats, without which it is impossible to get about comfortably, but the news that it is slated for revival is as welcome as that challis in modern design is again permissible.

SCHOOL DAYS

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

BE DEPENDABLE

IF YOU will look about you and note carefully the characteristics of the much-talked-about men and women who seem always to be in the glare of the spotlight, you will find that one of their strong traits is dependability.

In many cases these people began life in lowly positions, hardly able at times to keep the wolf from the door.

They were beset by common trials and difficulties.

The roads they traveled were just as full of ruts and rocks as they are today. Disappointments came as they came now, singly, in pairs and in swarms, but the stout hearted kept moving ahead, showing their mettle and faith.

They made it manifest to the world that in fair weather or foul they were dependable.

When confronted by stern or humiliating duty, they accepted the challenge unafraid, unconquerable.

Benjamin Franklin, in his trying days, was sneered at while carrying home a loaf of bread. In later years the young woman who had made fun of him became his wife, possibly because she had repented, but more than likely for the reason that she had found a man in whom she could trust, and upon whom she could depend without a quail of fear.

The dependable man is the successful man.

He refuses to sidestep the hard path or to shift his burden to another's shoulders. He does his share of work with happy heart and willing hands.

He controls his tongue when prompted to answer back with a smart; he knows his weakness and strength, and is capable of taking care of his opportunity and his job.

When put to the test he proves his worth.

In a crisis he has courage to act on his own initiative.

Then he breaks loose, but with the same old earnestness and good sense, and makes a bee-line for the spotlight, which through all his trials he has kept in mind.

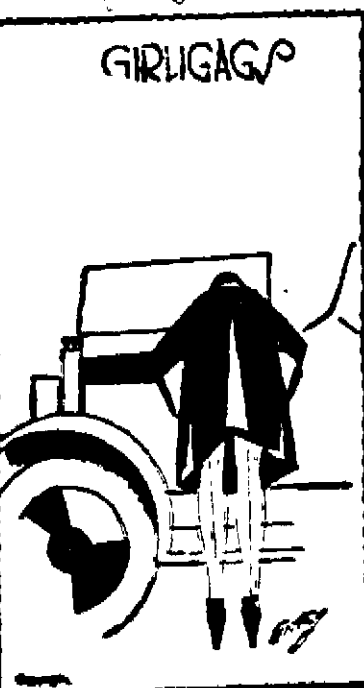

If you would have a proud place among the world's notable workers, rise with them to the eminence so often pictured by your imagination, and enjoy the pleasing sensation which comes to those who have done their best, you must first make yourself worthy of the honor by becoming dependable.

The effect of quicksand is well illustrated by the sinking in 1875 of a locomotive and train at Pueblo, Colo., which sank beyond discovery, though probed for to a depth of 50 feet.

Automatic Windshield Wipers,
New Vacuum Transmission,
Lock (Shift) on Pedal, Folding Spare
Wheel, Heavy Construction, Steep and Tilt Lights.

Many of these advantages you will recognize at a glance. But you will have higher appreciation of their meaning when you know that a plant of 18 acres which with equipment approximated a cost of $10,000,000, was first built and that special machinery had to be designed, to make possible the New Coach your dealer is now showing.

It is all steel, bolted and riveted, and so rigid that squeaks, rattles and distortions are as unlikely as in a steel building. Doors are so hung that a man may hang on an open door while the car is being driven over rough roads, without springing it out of true. And it is so designed and constructed as to permit the use in a totally new manner of a high-laked enamel, most lustrous and lasting finish.

There has been constant improvement in the chassis from the first Essex shipped. But only by the accumulation of the resources, the information, experience, and the skill that have resulted from the building of 350,000 Essex "Sixes" was it possible to create this car which we ask you to inspect and to drive as the best looking, best value, best Essex ever built.

Financia' and Commercial

New York, July 24.—Professional selling of the motor stocks unsettled the market at the beginning of trading in the short session of the stock market today, and prices of many of the active stocks declined to the week's low levels. The reactionary tone spread to the railroad stocks and the steel stocks, United States steel selling down to 137 1/2, against last Saturday's closing price of 142 1/2.

American Can, Baldwin and Cast Iron Pipe made an effort to resume their advance in the first period. American Can rose to above 55, but offerings were very liberal at the higher values, and the reactionary movement made its appearance quite promptly. As in the last few sessions, the oil stocks refused to give ground, while the week-end oil and gasoline markets also displayed a firmer tone. Copper stocks and mercantile stocks, which occupied a prominent place in the rally in the first part of the week, sold off on profit-taking, and equipment stocks were also reactionary.

Italy were irregular. Erie lost about 2 points following announcement that the directors had taken no action this week on the New Nickel Plate merger proposition.

Moderate advances on short covering were recorded for a few of the active stocks in the final period. The market was inactive and featureless in this period, however, and final prices were generally lower.

The listed bond market continued dull and inactive, with moderate gains in the foreign issues which had been under selling pressure in the early part of the week. French government bonds were fractionally higher, the eight per cent advancing to 101 1/2, up 1/2, and the 7 1/2 to 94 1/4. Italian and German 7s were steady and Brazilian 7s fractionally lower.

Liberty bonds and Treasury issues were reactionary, with the largest decline registered in the new Treasury 3 1/2, down about a quarter of a point to 101 1/2. The Second Liberty 4 1/2 per cent sold at 100 25/32, Third 4 1/2 at 101 1/2, and the Fourth 4 1/2 at 102 1/2.

Bonds of the United States Rubber Company, Pacific Gas and Electric Company, Mercantile Marine Company and the United States Steel Corporation led the activity in the industrial group, while Great Northern, Frisco and Pennsylvania bonds were well bought in the railroad section. Local traction and public utility issues were inactive.

Seek Woman in Canton Murder

Who Authorities Believe Can Solve Murder of Dan H. Mellett—Many Death Notes Received by Protest.

Canton, O., July 24.—In the doped mind of a sweetheart of a Canton "jungle" underworld lies information that will solve the murder of Dan H. Mellett, crusading publisher who was killed eight days ago. It was declared by operatives today.

With this belief held out before them, following their quizzing of eight underworld characters yesterday, investigators today sounded the call that is echoing through the bad lands of this state and Pennsylvania: "Find the Woman."

Meantime word was awaited from Ben Clark, Berillion Bureau expert, who early this morning questioned Hyman Darling, formerly a member of a running ring, arrested late yesterday in Pittsburgh.

Darling, local officials declared, came to Canton on the night of July 13 and was here for at least two days. During this time according to information obtained by the investigators, he was seen associating with members of the underworld.

Darling was one of the men convicted on the testimony of Paul Kitz, run-runner who was found murdered shortly after he turned government's witness in a case against Darling and others. Darling served two years as a result of Kitz's testimony.

The remaining notes that were received by officials and detectives making a probe of the case not only brought a host of armed state militiamen in plain clothes into the city, but also are expected to bring postal inspectors to this city from Cleveland today to investigate that angle.

A study of the death notes included a many-jacketed, .38-calibre bullet that emphasized the anonymous threats.

The National Guardsmen patrolled about the homes of the principals in the investigation, including the residence of several persons who are considered important witnesses until dawn today.

No trouble was reported by them this morning.

The connection of the "woman in the case" resulted in a flying trip to the underworld apartment by police. She had been "tipped off" police officers and in her stead, they found the brother of a notorious Chicago gunman.

They grilled him for an hour without success, they said.

CANTON CORNER LEAVES NEW HAVEN WITH INFORMATION.

New Haven, Conn., July 24.—Dr. T. C. McQuate of Canton, Ohio, corner, departed for his home today bearing in secret the information that officials of the Winchester Repeating Arms Company were able to give him concerning the bullet that killed Dan H. Mellett, Canton editor, and other bullets found near the spot where the editor was killed.

Dr. McQuate bore a mass of lead bullets that had hardly a semblance of a bullet. This, he said, had been taken from the skull of the dead editor. Two other bullets, one that entered a next-door house and one that struck a building in the rear of the Mellett garage, also were exhibited here and taken away by the doctor.

Dr. McQuate reached here last night, having used an automobile. He announced his intention of returning by train in order to appear at a murder trial opening in Canton Monday.

Wilson, Jr., of Newburgh has been placed in nomination for the office of associate grand master of the grand chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star by several districts of the state and has signified his willingness to be a candidate. Mr. Wilson is an enthusiastic worker and has held several offices in the order. The office to which he has been placed is significant in the second highest in the order, chapter, that a brother is permitted to hold.

Society Notes

Shady Birthday Celebration.

On Friday night Arthur MacDaniel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin MacDaniel, celebrated his seventeenth birthday at his home at Shady. Forty guests gathered at Arthur's home to help him make the day a memorable one. The fun began by some dressing in funny and ridiculous costumes, parading around the house and grounds to give everyone a laugh. Next the guests enjoyed a very delightful program. Musical selections were rendered on the piano, banjo, ukulele and harmonica. Vocal selections and recitations were also an enjoyable feature of the evening. One number on the program especially worthy of notice was a song composed by one of the guests and set to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne."

The Virginia reel was danced, after which dainty refreshments were served. Some of the guests present were from New York city, Brooklyn, Long Island, Poughkeepsie, New Paltz and Kingston. All left at a late hour, wishing Arthur many more happy birthdays.

LEAGUE OF RELIGIOUS DEFENSE LEADERS ARRESTED.

Mexico City, July 24.—The headquarters of the National League for Religious Defense have been closed and three of the leaders, Rene Capistran, Luis Bustos and Rafael Ceniceros, have been placed under arrest, charged with sedition.

The league, which has issued a manifesto calling for a boycott from August 1, in protest against the religious regulations, has opened Saray, where he will convalesce under guard, and will carry on its plans for a boycott.

It was reported today that Senora Elena Lascurain de Silva, daughter of the former Mexican ambassador to the United States, who is president of the Catholic Women's League, has been arrested on charges of sedition.

HEAT WAVE AT NATIONAL CAPITAL BROKEN TODAY.

Washington, July 24.—The heat wave which has gripped the capital in a fiery grasp for a week, was broken today and comparatively cool breezes prevailed to bring relief to sweltering thousands.

Five deaths were directly attributed to the heat, which at times registered 104, and scores were prostrated.

Question—When a frame building burns down, what is left? Answer—
The chimney alone, because it is built of brick. Chimneys are built of brick because they are fireproof.
Why not construct the whole building of brick, that is Real Fire Prevention. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. When you build, use brick exclusively. There may be a slight increase in first cost, but always a large saving in main-

Phoenix Players Give Matinees

There is no foundation in fact for the rumor about town to the effect that the Phoenix Players have given up the idea of giving one weekly matinee performance on Friday afternoon of each week at Byrdell Theatre, Woodstock. At the matinee performance of "Black Waters," given at Byrdell Theatre on Friday afternoon the little theatre was filled as it was on Thursday evening. In spite of the heat and stormy weather it is little wonder for "Black Waters" is a truly appealing tragedy, keeping one thrilled from start to finish, yet leaving the beholder at the tragic ending sobered but not depressed for there is strength, justice and mercy in the play and a good bit of Irish humor.

"Black Waters" will be repeated tonight, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday nights of next week, and Friday matinee.

Probe Murder And Suicide

Flint, Mich., July 24.—Police today were investigating the murder and suicide of Garby McBride, 24, who took his own life after shooting his fiancée, Lillian Bostwick, 24.

The shooting occurred in the Bostwick home in the presence of Mrs. Minnie Bostwick, mother of the slain girl.

According to police the two had been sweethearts several years. Their courtship started in Kennett, Mo., it is said.

Sounds of a quarrel preceded the shooting, according to Mrs. Bostwick.

High Humidity Causes Suffering

Showers Break Heat Wave But Humidity Causes Great Suffering
—East Wind Expected to Diminish Humidity.

New York, July 24.—Showers today broke the scorching five-day heat wave as far as the thermometer was concerned, but the high humidity, 86, caused as much suffering throughout the east as has been experienced during the past five days.

The mercury was ten degrees lower than yesterday, but the thick, sticky air made it seem much warmer, and more prostrations were reported.

Total deaths in the Metropolitan area during the heat period numbered 29, of which 17 were drownings of persons seeking relief in the water. Ninety-two prostrations were reported.

Relief is promised tonight with the expected arrival of an east wind, the weather bureau announced.
This would diminish the humidity, which is higher today than at any time since the fiery weather began.

Sheridan Caseys Here Tomorrow

The Sheridan Caseys for two contests in the task the Colonials have on hand for Sunday afternoon. The first game will start at 2 o'clock.
Probably Bob Cooney and Art Smith will go to the mound for the Kingstonians in the double bill.

The locals are now badly in need of a few wins and it will mean a lot if Phonemen can wallop the Brooklyn club twice Sunday afternoon. On the other hand the Caseys don't very often accommodate their opponents to such a degree and the locals will have to do their best stickwork to down the K. of C. club.

KRIEPELUSH.

Krippebush, July 24.—The Sunday school picnic which was to be held August 10 has been postponed until a later date.

day, August 1, at 2:30. Sunday school at 1:30.

Above Nations

Goethe, without being a Shakespeare, was cast in that mighty mold which we must call Shakespearean. He fell short of Shakespeare and he was different from Shakespeare, who was so to speak, a "ninth wave" breaking on our Elizabethan shores with the momentum of great seas behind him, whereas Goethe was virtually a first wave unsupported and unimpelled by tradition and racial inspiration.
Shakespeare crowned English literature. Goethe founded German literature. No Chaucer, no Spenser behind him; no long speech of his race; no great companions such as Shakespeare had; no air of poetry and national expression such as Shakespeare breathed.—H. G. Wells.

One of Nature's Wonders

The elephant breathes and smells by means of his trunk; with it he puts food and drink into his mouth, throws dirt or hay on his back to protect it;
from flies, pulls down trees, lifts heavy burdens or safely picks up the most delicate, fragile things. It serves the purpose of a hand, having a sensitive touch which enables it to untie knots, open doors, or give himself a shower bath.

Making It for Him

"What's Helen doing?"
"Making a shrimp salad."
"I didn't know we had any shrimp in the house."
"We haven't, but there's one going to call on her this evening."

Doctor: Are you bothered with things dancing before your eyes?
Tired Business Man (ardent musical comedy first-nighter): No; in fact, I rather like it.

Police Attack Subway Strikers

New York, July 24.—Five subway strikers were nursing bruises and possibly worse injuries today as a result of an attack upon them last night by a squad of twenty-five police. Eye-witnesses and the strikers described the attack as "unwarranted."

The police, according to the witnesses, charged the strikers with blackjacks just as about a hundred of them, accompanied in many cases by their wives, were emerging from a hall where a mass meeting had been held.

The detectives arrested Anthony Guggino, charging him with disorderly conduct and using "foul language" to an officer. Guggino was taken away unconscious and had to be sent to a hospital where it was feared he might be suffering from a fractured skull.

Elverhoj Helps Local Benefits

"Kempy," a honey play, is now being given to greatly pleased audiences at the theatre at the Elverhoj Colony at Milton-on-Hudson. This play was given on Tuesday evening of this week as a benefit performance for the Marlborough Village Improvement Society. Kempy was given this afternoon as a matinee performance and will be repeated tonight and next Wednesday evening.

The next play to be given by the Elverhoj players is to be "Kindling" by Charles Kengorm. It is a more serious play than either "Aren't We All" or "Kempy," and is the nature of an experiment to see whether the patrons of these summer plays will enjoy such a more serious play with the comedies.

On Monday evening a benefit play will be given for the Milton Library.

"BEHIND THE FRONT"
AT READE'S THEATRE.

"Behind the Front" will be shown at Reade's Kingston Theatre on Monday and Tuesday of next week.
This picture, hailed as one of the best comedies of the season, features one hundred and thirty dough boys together with Wallace Berry, Raymond Hatton and Mary Brian.

A whole French village was rebuilt on the Larky ranch for the taking of many of the scenes. It was so realistic and true to those they had actually seen that some of the doughboys declared "it had given them the first real thrill they'd experienced since the guns stopped firing on Armistice Day, back in 1918."

LAKE KATRINE COTTAGE STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

During the storm Thursday evening about 8 o'clock the bungalow of Henry C. Battenfeld near the ford-ing place on the Esopus creek at Lake Katrine, was struck by lightning. The bolt carried away a portion of the roof and did considerable damage to the place. Fortunately no one was hurt. At the time there were nine people in the place and all escaped injury except Mr. Briggs, a guest, who was shocked and stunned by the bolt.

Twilight Stars Win Game.

The Twilight Stars defeated the Golden Hill Juniors in a very fast and exciting game of baseball at Forsyth Park Friday evening, the score being 24 to 18. Dick Warrington helped his team win by knocking a home run. The line up for the victors was as follows: Dick Warrington, pitching; A. Madden, catching; A. Warrington, first; W.
Van Steenburgh, second; Dan Garrity, short; S. Nagele, third; G.
Calton, right field; K. Smith, center field; A. Myers, left field.

Flying Navy Church Flag

The navy church flag is in the shape of a pennant and is a blue cross on a white field. There are flags of three sides, the smallest of which is 6 feet long and 2 feet wide. The length of the cross is 2 feet. The width of the cross at the base and top is 5 inches and the cross bar 14 inches. The head of the cross of the church flag should be placed toward the flagpole.
